

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid rising in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. EL PASO HOME IS ROBBED THURSDAY

A daring day light robbery occurred at the home of E. H. Yale, 1919 North Virginia street, Thursday morning about 10:30.

A jewel box containing about $800 worth of jewels and heirlooms which was on the dressing table of Mrs. Yale's room, was taken. The robber entered the room by way of a window opening onto the side yard. A next door neighbor saw a young man, wearing a broad brimmed black hat at the window of the Yale home about the time the robbery was supposed to have been committed.

Insurance men are working over rates.

The new fire insurance rating books, giving the specific ratings on all risks in El Paso, have been received by the fire insurance agents from the office of the state actuary at Fort Worth.

The agents are studying the rate book carefully and are preparing to notify their policy holders of the change resulting from the substitution of the new rate for the old. Based upon the hazard involved, the new rates are almost uniformly higher than the old ones, the insurance men say, although in some cases the rates are lower than the old ones.

Austin, Tex., May 12.—The committee named this morning at a joint meeting of the Postmasters' association, and the League of Texas Postmasters, to report an endorsement for the simplification of money orders, was followed by an amendment calling for immediate action and as a result of a floor debate, the convention will adopt a memorial asking the doing away of money order application blanks and making orders payable at any postoffice. This idea is one which the postmaster general has been trying to get before congress. Beaumont wants the next meeting.

OBJECTS TO JOY RIDERS.

Residents of Montana street are again objecting to the joy riding on this street. D. T. White, who lives in the 800 block on Montana, had his pet dog killed this week by one of the speeding automobile fiends and says that they came near hitting his little boy, who was attempting to cross the street. Complaints have been made to the police department about the fast riding on this street.

Points of interest, many of which remain as visible as the day they were the scenes of action, will be marked, so that visitors may not have to go away without seeing some of the places where history was made. Among them are yet to be seen the ruins of the great confederate and union armies at different times; the plaza which marks the scenes of many frays, the Jones's residence, where the confederacy in the west was organized, that of Capt. Bull, the commander of the famous fighting militia of 50, the decaying walls behind which "Billy the Kid," who boasted of his 20 men, was confined. There is also the law office of Catron and Elkins, the latter now United States senator from West Virginia, not to mention a score of other prominent places and homes.

Complicated History.

The history of La Mesilla seems to be a complicated one, for it has been under the rule of Spain, Mexico, the United States, and the confederate states of America, changing back and forth several times.

It was founded in 1848 or 1850 by colonists from the east bank of the Rio Grande. The territory west of the river was disputed territory, the Texans claiming it. There seems to have been

Man Arrested in New York on Charge of Kidnaping Girls.

New York, May 12.—Charged with abduction Pierre A. Bernard, who was arrested in a sumptuously furnished house in West Seventy-fourth street, near West End avenue, while he was instructing a scantily attired class of men and women in "mysteries of the Orient," was arraigned in the West Side police court and held in $15,000 bail by magistrate Broen.

Miss Zella Hopp, 18 years old, and Miss Gertrude Leo, 19 years old, the latter being taken from the Seventy-fourth street house at the time of Bernard's arrest, have made charges against him. Miss Hopp lives with her parents in the Bronx and Miss Leo's home is in Tacoma, Wash.

Mrs. Edward H. Miller, of Tacoma, a sister of Miss Leo, is directly responsible for Bernard's arrest. She received a letter from Miss Hopp, which stated that her sister was being mistreated by Bernard, and she immediately came to this city and took the matter up with the police. She got when he gave the Masonic sign and saved his life.

Many Relics Left.

There still remain in some of the homes at La Mesilla a number of relics such as vessels made of copper, packed on burros from the old Spanish mines at Santa Rita. Some old prairie schooners are stuck in the mud in the town limits, and have been there ever since La Mesilla was the half way station between St. Louis, Mo., and San Francisco, Cal., on the Butterfield stage line route, when the journey was made in 21 days in a race across country in the old Concord. There are also a number of Indian relics such as spears and other weapons, secured from the Indians by "the fighting militia of fifty" and the vigilance militia water under Col. Fountain.

LAS CRUCES DAILY RECORD.

IT SLUGS HARD.

Coffee a Sure and Powerful Brainer.

"Let your coffee slave be denied his cup at its appointed time! Headache, sick stomach—fatigue like unto death! I know it all in myself, and have seen it in others. Strange that thinking, reasoning beings will persist in its use," says a Tokyo, Kansas, man.

He says further that he did not begin drinking coffee until after he was 20 years old, and that slowly it began to poison him, and affect his hearing through his nervous system.

"Finally, I quit coffee and the conditions slowly disappeared, but one cold morning the smell of my wife's coffee was too much and I took a cup. Soon I was drinking my regular allowance, tearing down brain and nerves by the daily dose of the nefarious concoction.

"Later, I found my breath coming hard and frequent fits of nausea, and then I was taken down with bilious fever.

"Common sense came to me and I quit coffee for good and went back to Postum. I at once began to gain and have had no return of my bilious symptoms, headache, dizziness, or vertigo.

"I now have health, bright thoughts, and added weight, where before there was invalidism, the blues, and a skeleton-like condition of the body.

"My brother quit coffee because of its effect on his health and now uses Postum. He could not stand the nervous strain while using coffee, but keeps well on Postum.

"Miss F., I know personally, was incapable of doing a day's work while she was using coffee. She quit it and took up Postum and is now well and has perfectly steady nerves."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

It may be mentioned here that when Lemon among others was a sympathizer of the union, when the confederates under Baylor were stationed at La Mesilla, a fellow by the name of Marshall was hanged, and Lemon was about to be, some kind of a law in the republic of Texas called head's rights, that gave the Texans a right to lay claim to Mexican ranches. The Mexicans losing some of their farms in this way, appealed to the United States and to Mexico, but received no aid; however, they got a grant of land from the state of Chihuahua, and the colonists crossed the river and settled La Mesilla in Chihuahua state.

The Origin of La Mesilla.

It became the strongest colony along the Rio Grande. Eighteen fifty-three put La Mesilla in the U. S. by the Gadsden purchase against the wishes of many of its inhabitants. The following year, 1854, July 4, the American flag floated in the plaza amid a noisy population. La Mesilla then became the capital and principal city of the territory of Arizona, embracing all of New Mexico and Arizona.

Lieut. Col. A. Baylor, of the C. S. A., in 1861 was commanded by Col. Sibley, of the department of Texas, to seize the country along the Rio Grande in the north. He arrived at La Mesilla soon and in the name of the confederacy he took the town. Maj. Lynne, of the union forces, held Ft. Fillmore six miles to the southeast, and Lieut. Col. Baylor arranged for an encounter with the two forces, and his men fled, but Baylor overtook him at St. Augustine Pass, where his little army of 700 men surrendered.

The Mutiny.

When the California column arrived, there were a number of men in the town sympathizing with the south, so they were put in the guard house, but they were easily won through the kindness of the creolers and tired details. Col. West, commander of the column, gave warning that if any prisoners escaped again, the detail responsible would be punished. The occurrence happened and the creolers would not drill till the two corporals were removed from the guard house. Capt. Pettus reported the affair to Col. West. Col. West ordered the three companies to form on the parade grounds. Capt. Pettus's company with gun. The latter company formed between the other two. Corporal Smith was asked to step two paces to the front and was asked if he would do his duty. Smith replied that he would not till the two corporals were removed from the guard house. When he said this, he was ordered still farther in front. The companies were directed to shoot him down. This was much against their will, but Smith fell with one bullet through him. The remainder of the company was asked the same question. They were willing to do their duty and the mutiny was ended. (Capt. Pettus recently died in Providence, R. I., where he was state sealer of weights and measures.)

Famous Political Feud.

During a hot political feud, the two parties met in bodies.

Some of the rowdy fellows in the parade party of Republicans made some remarks which were resented. A Democrat by the name of Kelly struck John Lemon, a prominent Republican leader at the time, a blow over the head which crushed him to the ground. A few days later he died of the blow. When Lemon fell, the riot was started proper, and Kelly then fell pierced with bullets. The crowd divided, still shooting at the time, a blow over the head of the confederate, and behind every place imaginable, where they could shoot from. The results of this little battle summed up to be 13 dead and mortally wounded men.

It was not long till all the trouble had cleared away and all was all right again.

It may be mentioned here that when Lemon among others was a sympathizer of the union, when the confederates under Baylor were stationed at La Mesilla, a fellow by the name of Marshall was hanged, and Lemon was about to be,

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Known as Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.
